

TOEBI 2017: Old English Across Borders

Saturday 21 October

University College Cork

Proposals for papers, poster presentations and round table sessions are welcomed on any aspect of the conference theme, including the notion of borders, boundaries and transitions in Old English literature; transmission of material between Anglo-Saxon England and its neighbours; crossing generic and disciplinary boundaries in the teaching of Old English; outreach and public engagement initiatives; and the challenges (and opportunities) for closer cross-national collaboration and research in the current academic climate. We especially encourage papers from graduate students and early career researchers, particularly those with a pedagogical focus.

Paper titles and short abstracts (250 words) should be emailed to t.birkett@ucc.ie by 01 August 2017.
