Old English on the Edge: Borders and Boundaries

Annual Meeting of TOEBI (Teachers of Old English in Britain and Ireland)

Hosted by Edge Hill University, Ormskirk, Lancashire
Saturday, September 7th, 2024

Conference Theme: Borders and Boundaries

We welcome papers on any aspect of borders, boundaries, and Old English, including:

- marginalia and fragmentary texts in Old English
- temporal boundaries between Old and Middle English
- teaching Old English in cross-listed modules
- geographical boundaries
- disciplinary boundaries
- pedagogical boundaries and teaching 'on the edge'
- any other boundaries you can imagine!

TOEBI is a supportive and collegial conference, open to anyone involved in the teaching of Old English at any level. We welcome abstracts for a range of presentation formats, including but not limited to:

- traditional 20-minute research papers
- poster sessions
- 5-10 minute 'lightning talks'
- creative presentations
- participatory workshops

Please submit an abstract and title to the conference organisers Lindy Brady (Lindy.Brady@edgehill.ac.uk) and Rebecca Stephenson (rebecca.stephenson@ucd.ie) by Friday, May 31, 2024

Conference bursaries are available to support Early Career Researchers and Independent Scholars
